

Within-row offsets separate two comparisons; they do not denote different policies.